By Gwen Neumann Submitted by Janice Smith, AAFA #152

The following article was written by Gwen Neumann of Plano, Texas about her stepfather. Gwen was the first President of the Collin County Genealogical Society and one of the chief organizers of the Society over twenty-five years ago. She is a friend of Janice Smith. There are several members of AAFA who also descend from this Alford line: Beverly Grace Alford #916, and her sister Lana Kay Alford Manning #1106, descend from Nathaniel Jefferson Alford, Zeke's father. Rose Alford Shelton #192, and Jeffery Evan Alford #485, descend from Nathaniel Jefferson's father, John Redden Alford through Nathaniel's brother Hurst Justice Alford and Hurst's son Thomas Ewin Alford.

NATHANIEL EZEKIEL "ZEKE" ALFORD 1900-1994

Every once in awhile, a man like Zeke Alford comes along. He was what people would call a good man--not saintly, but good. The list of people he helped all of his adult life is long, although not many people knew this. Maybe the hard times he and his family had during the Depression contributed to the giving man he became. This is not to say that he did not have a temper- he did-but on the other side of the coin, there was the gentle, sentimental man. He was definitely a man's man, though. So now I'd like to tell you a little about the life of my stepfather, Nathaniel Ezekiel Alford of Rockdale, Texas.

"Zeke" Alford was born in Rockdale, Milam County, Texas on November 8, 1900, and died in Cameron, Milam County, Texas on 17 August 1994. He was the son of Nathaniel Jefferson Alford and Izora Young. The elder Alford was a lawman in Rockdale. His mother was a home-maker. Zeke had five sisters and three brothers. N.J. Alford was born in Alabama, and Izora Alford was born in Arkansas. In 1919, after he graduated from high school, he was offered a scholarship to Texas A&M University to play baseball. Unfortunately, he had to turn it down because his family needed his help supporting the younger children. He did this gladly, but baseball remained one of his greatest interests for all of his life. Since he could not give it up entirely, he turned to semi-pro ball which was great fun for him, and it was not full time. Maybe it was not as glamorous as pro-ball, but it fulfilled his need to play.

On 14 February 1924, he married Bess Clark, the daughter of Jim Clark and Mattie Worley [born Jan 12 1903]. They lived in Rockdale for all of the fifty years of their marriage. Bess died in the fall of 1974, after a long battle with cancer. [She died Sep 4 1974, buried: IOOF Cemetery, Milam County, Texas.] In the 1930's, he began to run the first of his two service stations in Rockdale. This would be his occupation until the mid-1940's. Zeke became city secretary and city manager in 1947, a position he held until 1974. For many years he was a faithful member of the First Baptist Church in Rockdale. He served as a deacon as long as his health allowed, this being a "job" that he was very proud to do. He loved the outdoors. One of his favorite pastimes was hunting quail. Zeke kept on hunting until he was about eighty years old. (One of the first things he gave to me were several pedigree charts about his bird dogs.)

To the marriage of Bess and N.E. Alford was born one son: N.E. Alford, Jr. He was born 17 July 1929. After graduating from school in Rockdale, he attended Baylor University in Waco, Texas. He went on to a Baptist seminary where he became an ordained minister. Zeke, Jr. decided, however, that teaching was his calling, and he touched many lives while teaching math in Rockdale. On 26 March 1974, he married Pamela Love. They divorced in August of 1986. Although they had no children, he helped her raise her two daughters, Kelley and Stacey, as if they were his own.

Zeke Sr. and his friend Fred Bethay went to Conroe, Texas, to spend Easter in the spring of 1975. They were visiting a friend, Vera Gay whom they had known for many years. During the afternoon, they decided to make a telephone call to Austin, Texas, to my mother, Addie (Tanksley) Blomquist, a widow to whom Zeke had been engaged in 1920 when she and Vera taught school in Hamilton Chapel near Rockdale. So, for the first time in more than fifty years, the four of them talked together. Zeke Sr. and Addie started dating soon thereafter and decided the spark was still there. He and Addie came to Dallas during that summer and purchased her engagement ring. (She asked that I let anyone else wear her ring after she no longer could, and we are honoring that request.) On 21 October 1975, they were married. They were together until her death on 29 January 1994.

The year 1976 was a great one for the Alford's! Zeke decided to run for mayor, and he won. He served one term as mayor. He used techniques he had learned as city manager in his new position, and he had a very fruitful term. One of his special interests was to see that Rockdale had a good, modern water supply and to try to help Rockdale attract businesses.

In the late summer of 1993, Zeke's health took a turn for the worse. His heart and arthritis got steadily more out of control. He moved to a nursing home in Cameron, Texas, which is about fifteen miles from Rockdale. Addie, to have constant care, soon joined him there so they could spend their last months together. He died there on 17 August 1994. He is buried in Rockdale beside his first wife. [Addie died Jan 29 1994.]
