Notes for ALICE DELANEY ALFORD:

[Alford.ged]

Alice was a small, slim girl with fine, blond hair.

According to her daughter, Thelma, Alice would gather the kids around, climb up in a tree, and play church with Alice as preacher. One day she was jumping up and down on a branch and the branch above broke sending her to the ground, knocked unconscious. The other kids carried her to a water tank to revive her and wash off the blood. She never lost the scar.

Alice had a devastating experience in her youth with her brother under her care. Alice was shelling corn and young William J. put a kernel of corn in his mouth and choked to death on it.

Alice lost several siblings in their youth: William J., as well as 2 sisters of diphtheria, John at 21 of a burst appendix, and Luther at 19 from blood poisoning (from a gunshot wound-a pistol discharged while he was climbing a tree).

Ollie (her husband), described Alice as emotionally "tight as a fiddle". She was super-charged and could pick cotton better than any man. She always made sure no one left her house hungry. She was very logical and was an excellent domino (42) player.[Currey.ged.FTW]
